Adventures between the Worlds

Kara Danvers was with Winn in her apartment waiting for her boyfriend Barry Allen to come from her world saying he wanted to bring a special guest. Right now Kara was showing Winn various pictures Barry had given him of his 'rogues gallery' even proudly using those exact words. "Okay I am not a fan of how these guys remind me of my father..." muttered Winn looking at the pictures of the two Tricksters, James Jesse and Axel Walker plus their weapons used. "But I must say this guy looks like Luke Skywalker a bit and I actually like his costume." Winn said holding up a picture of Jesse in costume from his original run as the Trickster.

Outside walking to the apartment door was Barry Allen walking with his fellow hero from his world Oliver Queen who was holding a rucksag in his hand. "Going to meet your alien girlfriend who lives in an alternate Earth, I can't believe I let you talk me into this Barry..." Oliver told him his face showing he was not a hundred percent on board with his idea.

"You will like her Oliver." Barry told him as he then knocked on the door and Kara then let him in excited to see her boyfriend again. Winn then noticed Oliver and asked who he was. "Hey Kara, this is Oliver Queen and Oliver this is Kara. Oliver is the Green Arrow; he has been a hero on my world before I even got my powers." Barry told him and Kara remembered being told about him before.

"Well nice to meet you Oliver, Barry said something about you going out at night and beating up criminals along with using arrows?" Kara asked and Oliver nodded giving Barry a look showing he was not happy with someone he did not know being told about his identity and Barry gave him an apologetic sheepish look in return. Winn had looked excited when being told that Oliver was another hero but looked disappointed that it seemed he was just an archer vigilante.

"I spent five years on an island and I used the skills honed there to save my city when I got home, I had to become something... I had to become something else." Oliver told he and Kara remembered when Barry told her about Green Arrow and the descriptions of him especially when he was the Hood and just the Arrow reminded her of some guy dressed like a bat that was rumoured to operate in Gotham City.

"Your friend sounds nice Mr Allen." said a voice and Oliver and Barry looked to each other alarmed that someone might have heard them talking about them being heroes. They all looked to see who came through the door and the jaws of both Kara and Winn dropped when they saw who it was... a particular large dorky looking man in glasses.

"Clark you should have told me you would be stopping by." Kara said excitedly getting a hug from the man and Winn just looked like he had just met Elvis Presley but the outsiders from the universe just looked puzzled. "Clark this is Barry my boyfriend who I have told you about and Barry this is Clark Kent, my cousin." Kara told Barry and his jaw dropped as well remembering being told about him.

"So you are the guy who goes about flying in Metropolis..." Barry asked looking scared at the being he was told was incredibly powerful and had saved the entire planet from threats over the decades he had been on this planet. "He was raised on Earth unlike Kara and as Superman he is pretty much the most famous hero on this Earth." Barry quickly clarified to Oliver who nodded in hesitant understanding.

"You must be Winn." Clark told Winn with a smile and Winn looked like he was almost going to explode in glee reminding Barry of how his Earth-2 self reacted when he met Harry Wells. "Barry, Kara told me so much about you. This superhero from another universe entirely and I have wanted to meet you myself but I have not had much time from stopping Lex Luthor from sabotaging a charity organisation that was rivalling LexCorp to making sure that Mr Mxyzptlk doesn't cause too much damage with his antics." Clark told him with a friendly smile offering him a handshake which Barry hesitantly accepted.

"Yeah, your cousin is great uh Clark, I always spend time with her when I am not making sure Captain Cold does not cause too much havoc and there are other Metahumans terrorising my Central City so..." Barry muttered causing Oliver to face palm.

"Captain Cold?" Clark questioned and Barry wondered how he was going to react but then to the shock of everyone there he seemed to be laughing. "I like that name, whoever came up with that name on your world should get a medal." Clark told him with a smile and Barry lightened up a bit.

Then on the TV station it was talking about a terrorist attacking happening in a building in National City and everyone there looked concerned. "Glad I brought this..." Oliver said smirking bringing out his Green Arrow get up, bow and arrows while "inn started to protest that he could not do much against terrorists and he should leave it to Kara. But before Oliver could make a retort Clark spoke up.

"Well Kara, Barry if you're friend wants to help out and since I am here..." Clark said opening up the collar of his shirt to reveal the world famous "S" shield. "How about this once Superman, Supergirl, Flash and Green Arrow team up?" Clark asked and Kara thought that it might be good to spend time with Clark as well as team up with her boyfriend. Since teaming up with Barry she had grown less hesitant in getting help from other heroes than she was when Reactron was in National City.

**This is basically the sequel to Flash and Supergirl: Interdimensional Couple, it maybe a while before I update this again as I want to wait until I get the adventure story I want to write settled down in my mind. I am open to ideas for villains team up between the dimensions for this story but I have my ideas.**
